SHORT BIO

Dr. Giuseppe Naglieri currently serves as a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Comparative Public Law at the Aldo Moro University of Bari, where he teaches Comparative Constitutional Justice and Comparative Climate Change Law and Litigation. In 2023 he received the national scientific qualification from the Italian Ministry of Universities and Research to serve as an Associate Professor of Comparative Law.

Dr. Naglieri is Principal Investigator of the FIS (Italian Science Fund) Starting Grant Project CLIMPACT – Charting the Landscape of Climate Litigation Impacts: An Interdisciplinary Framework and Open Access Database funded by the Italian Ministry of University and Research (funding: 1 million euros).

He holds a Ph.D. in Comparative Public Law from the University of Bari and a Ph.D. in Legal and Social Sciences from the University of Málaga (Spain), both awarded cum laude. Prior to his current role, he served as Research Fellow and Adjunct Professor at the Aldo Moro University of Bari.

He has furthered his research internationally as a visiting scholar at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public and International Law in Heidelberg, at the University of Graz, at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow and in the Constitutional Tribunal of Spain.

Dr. Naglieri's research is supported by his involvement in major international projects, including the COST Action SHiFT (Social Sciences and Humanities for Transformation and Climate Resilience), the Canadian SSHR-CRSH funded LEXIS Project. He is a member of the Climate Change Law Specialist Group of the IUCN World Commission on Environmental Law and the Global Toolbox on Corporate Climate Litigation at the British Institute of International and Comparative Law (BIICL). He is the author of a monograph and of several scientific papers. His main research interests lie in comparative constitutional justice and climate law and litigation.
